

Declaration of Product Conformity in Accordance with the EU General Product Safety Regulation (GPSR)

Dear Business Partners,

Regulation (EU) 2023/988 on general product safety (General Product Safety Regulation; GPSR) contains essential requirements for the safety of consumer products that are placed or made available on the market. This particularly includes expanded information obligations in the field of e-commerce business. As of December 13, 2024, retailers are obligated under Article 19 of the GPSR to provide the following information to consumers already on offering of the product on the market:

1. Manufacturer Identification

The current care label now includes all relevant supplementary information in accordance with legal requirements. However, we would like to point out that there are still numerous products in circulation that do not yet include the manufacturer's E-Mail address on the care label. However, this E-Mail address can be found quickly and easily by visiting the website listed.

2. Product Identifiers

Our provided product information already meets the legal requirements. In addition to the product description, you will find detailed information on material composition, animal welfare, suitability, sustainability, etc.

1. Warnings or Safety Information (if applicable)

When used properly, our products do not pose any relevant safety risks. Therefore, no warnings are necessary.

Eisbär Sportmoden hereby confirms that the products we deliver comply with the requirements of Regulation (EU) 2023/988 on general product safety (General Product Safety Regulation; GPSR).
